

OPAC at Cannes Yachting Festival with glazed Multifunctional Hard-Top

At the French boat show, a roof with unique features will be presented: transparent slats with dual handling

Rivalta di Torino, 2 September 2021 - At the Cannes Yachting Festival (7-12 September 2021) the company will be exhibiting products that stand out for their innovation and practicality: there will be a mockup structure where the innovative Multifunctional Hard-Top (Mht), a rigid slatted roof with dual handling for open boats and yachts, will be on display in a semi-transparent version.

The Multifunctional hard-top is a roof consisting of aluminium-framed slats with tempered glass panelling to allow natural light to filter through and illuminate the area below even when it is closed. The hard-top can be made in different sizes depending on the specific needs of the boat's designers, and is therefore adaptable to any covering. Opening is operated by means of a dual handling system: the first, in the form of a fan, allows the slats to be lifted upwards; the second consists of a translation aft of the slats themselves which are "packed" in a rest position, leaving the deck below open. Rotation, opening and closing operations take very little time.

Opac's focus on the highest quality is directed not only towards mechanics, but also towards the search for ever lighter materials that are less susceptible to the saline conditions of the marine environment.

For the nautical industry, Opac designs and manufactures covers, hard-tops, soft-tops, awnings and carbon fibre poles for pleasure boats. All its products can be manufactured in different sizes, depending on the specific needs of the yacht designers, and are therefore adaptable to any type of cover or need.

Opac will be present at the Cannes Yachting Festival at Stand PAN 126.
